The Art of Friendship

ANNA B. LEWIS

THE 1947 CALDRON pays tribute to Miss Anna B. Lewis, our beloved dean, who leaves Central this summer. Through her interest in boys and girls and her helpfulness to all, she has personified friendship here for the past 23 years. We honor Dean Lewis as a wonderful teacher, dean, and friend.

As explained by our Dean:

Down memory's lane pass the pages of this book. The 1947 Caldron is designed to portray the eternal influence of friendships upon our destiny. No one can live in Central without having the opportunity to make and keep very valuable friends. Such friends are made because we work and play together, because we set out upon a common goal, fostered by common ideals. Then we become comrades.

As I leave Central, I, too, have a treasury of memories. Years will not make me forget the accomplishments of those whose four years of high school have made Central a school of matchless spirit. Many of you have become my friends—and I am yours.

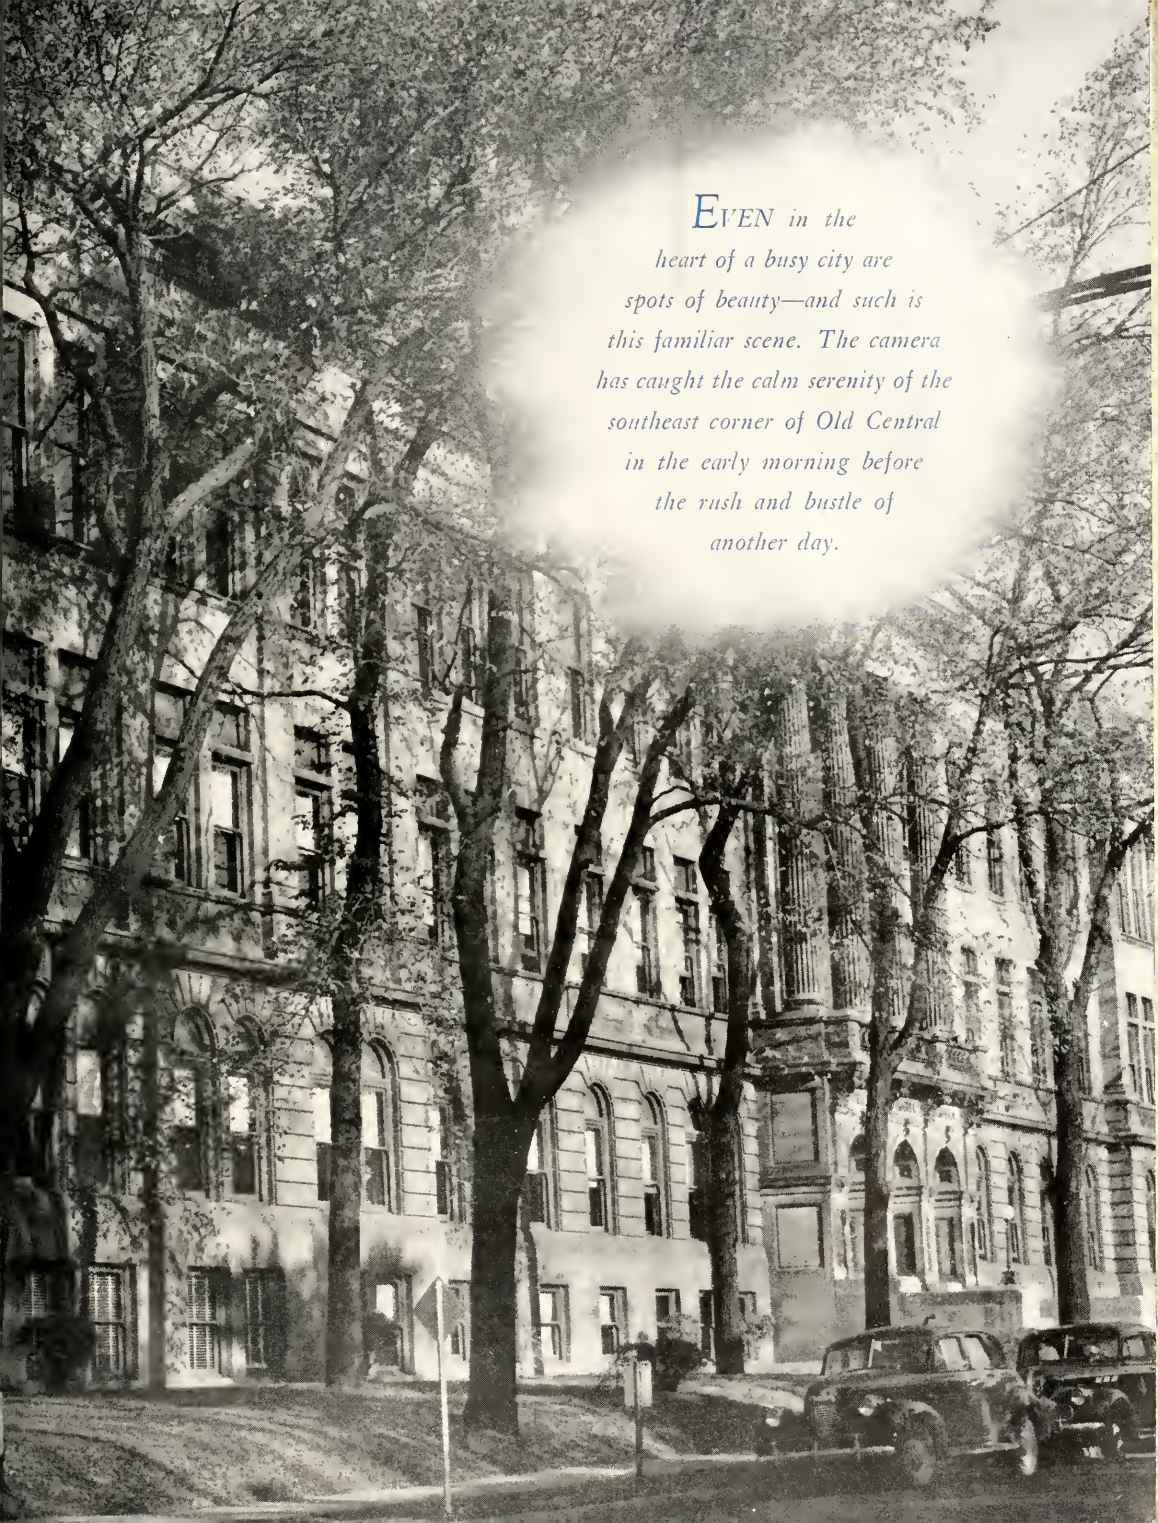
To these experiences we dedicate this book.

Anna B. Lewis
Dean of Girls

"There is a magic in the memory of school day friendships; it softens the heart, and even affects the nervous system of those who have no heart."—DISRAELI

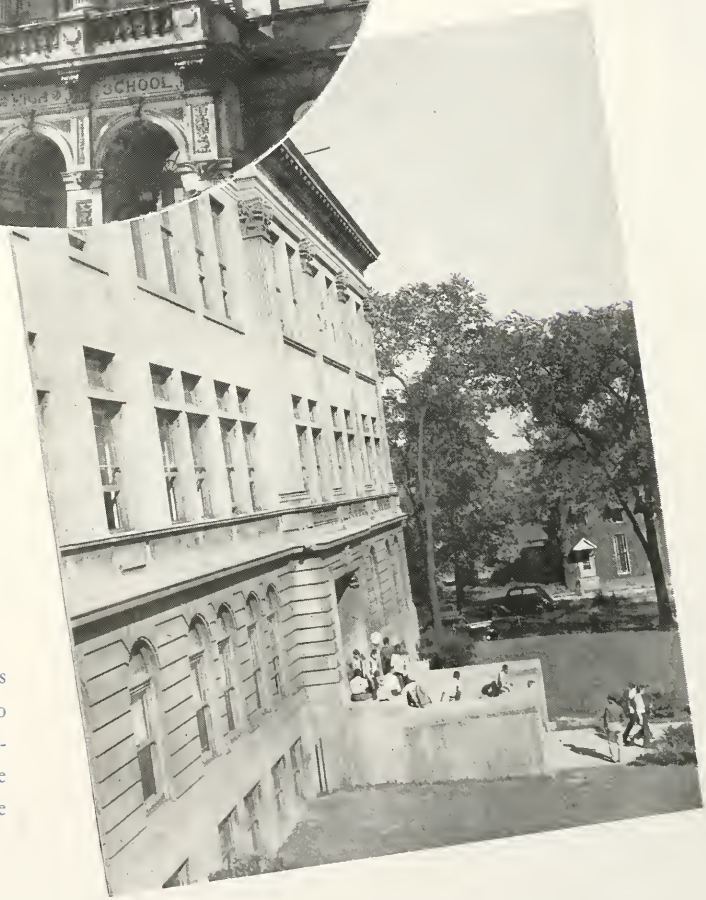
Students congregate before the doors open in the morning and exchange friendly comments. This view is of the New Building's south entrance.

Friendship is a quality that can be linked with all Central's activities, her events, page 8 . . . her clubs, page 18 . . . her sports, page 54 . . . her teachers and classrooms, page 72 . . . her album, page 96 . . . and her features, page 132.



EVEN in the heart of a busy city are spots of beauty—and such is this familiar scene. The camera has caught the calm serenity of the southeast corner of Old Central in the early morning before the rush and bustle of another day.

THE PILLARS of Central can be called pillars of friendship. Standing proudly, they symbolize the permanence of friendship at Central. Looking at this picture of the Barr street entrance, one is impressed with the quiet greatness with which friendship has imbued Central.



Each entrance of Central is a welcome to all who want to learn. Here is the south entrance of old Central, where friends meet to converse before the bell rings.

THE NEW CENTRAL befriends its pupils by helping them equip themselves with skills to cope with problems of the present and the future.

Events At Central Promote Friendship

YOU DON'T HAVE to be the prettiest girl in school to be the most popular, and neither do you have to be the star basketball player to be the boy with the most friends in high school. Faithful friends are hard to find, but through individual development, by sharing the joys and sorrows of our classmates, by encouraging their aspirations and overlooking their shortcomings, you can secure many lasting friendships for yourselves. Through the medium of these friendships you can secure lasting honors also. The Prom Queen was elected to that honor because the most students voted for her, and probably most of the students who voted for her did so because she was a "good gal." Some of the highest honors in school are won by the popular vote of the student-body, and it is there that your friendships really prove their value. Your friends can make or break you; choose them as you choose your books; select them with care, but, by all means, select them.

A man that hath friends must show himself friendly. — PROVERBS 18:24

An Eventful Year 1946-47

From the opening of school September 2, to commencement time in June, the year 1946-47 has been truly an eventful one at Central. In their studies, events, and various other activities, the faculty and the student body have gone through the year "hand in hand." Through friendship and devotion to the school, they have produced an inspiring and worthwhile year at Central. Among the highlights of the year were the annual magazine campaign, the traditional "Tiger Mixer," our many colorful dances, programs commemorating various holidays of the year, Yuletide caroling by the choir, the celebrated Valentine Pep Session, speech activities and honors, two annual formal dances, the Junior Prom and Commencement Dance, and terminating all, the memorable commencement for the year 1946-1947. There were many, many other events that shall live in the memory of Centralites years after they leave this molding institution, Central High School.

JONES

Friendship Blossoms In Central's Groups

IT IS GENERALLY agreed that at least one true friendship is essential to success. Friendship is a deep, quiet, enduring affection based upon mutual respect and esteem. What better place could be found to gain this respect and esteem than a club room? Through the medium of the various high school groups many friendships are born, as it is there that many new acquaintances are made and old ones renewed. If by this means the student is able to develop a true friend, one who believes in him and is ready to sacrifice his all for his sake, this friendship means that, despite all his shortcomings, he is innately good. Friendship is the crucial test of character, and not too many of us are able to stand the test. We feel that through our extra-curricular groups, a better and more lasting foundation for present and future friendships is built.

Friends share all things in common.

Latin

A golden lamp and fasces is the new symbol of Latin Club. Latin Club meets the last Thursday of each month and features talks on Roman education, the value of Latin in modern times, and re-enactments of Roman holidays. Founded in 1933, the club requires that a member be taking Latin or be a veteran of two years of Latin. The advisers are Miss Florence Lucasse and Miss Eva McKinnie.

SEATED: Bill Sefton, Joseph Marlin, Jerome Marlin, Don Wiesenberg, Ernest Hurst. SECOND ROW: Marjorie Creager, Jackie Stauffer, Helen Drake, Fred Ferrah, Al Lyons, Martha Dilts, Louann Boatman. THIRD ROW: Phyllis Sommers, Mary Carey, Gene Lockart, Bruce Exner, Tommy Craig, Norma Dixon, Nancy Berghoff.

SEATED: At the piano is Martha Carnahan. STANDING: Yvonne Everett and Patty Aldred.

French

"La seance est ouverte" opens each meeting of French Club, and "La Marseillaise" brings each meeting to a conclusion. Highlights of every meeting are book reports, games, songs, and refreshments. Traditions of French Club, one of the smallest but most active of Central clubs, are the potluck, Christmas party, Mardi Gras, and a treasure hunt. A member can secure a pin after the first semester in the Club. Le Cercle Francais was founded by Miss Brigham in 1938.

SEATED: Joanne Baldwin, Jackie Harding, Pat Douglass, Gloria Biddle, and Miss Brigham. STANDING: Mary Baumgartner.

Friendship

"To find and give the best," and to develop mentally, socially, and spiritually is the purpose of Friendship Club, a junior division of the YWCA. Under the guidance of Miss Helen Burr, the Gracious Girls, Ready Rangers, Loyal Lassies, and other groups meet every other Tuesday. Christmas and Easter services, the Friendship-Nature Club dance, the Tournament Twirl, and the annual banquet all promote friendship.

Hi-Y Club

Physical, Mental, and Spiritual is the code by which every Hi-Y member lives daily. Each member stays in good physical condition by taking part in such traditional social events as the splash party, hayride, Stag or Drag Dance, and the Sweetheart Banquet. Spiritual and mental growth is promoted through the club's bi-annual church attendance and various lectures held during the meetings.

Caldron Staff Produces Another

The Caldron, All-American yearbook since 1938, is both self-governing and self-supporting. It has its own photography staff taking all pictures for the Caldron with the exception of portraits. The Caldron meets its own budget with the aid of subscriptions, senior pictures, and money collected from the clubs for their individual pages in the Caldron.

To encourage friendly relations the Caldron sponsored a student dance, which also was instrumental in raising funds to help balance the year's budget of over $5,000. The members of the staff also shared a mid-year party with the Spotlight workers.

Doris Doenges, despite her many social activities, heads the editorial staff of the Caldron. She is in charge of all copy, heads, pictures, and layouts which are used in the yearbook.

Naomi Lepper combines her duties as Business Manager with all her other activities. As head of the business staff Naomi supervises all financial affairs of the Caldron with the budget always in mind.

Gertrude Jefferies manages the circulation of the Caldron.

All-American Book

The members of the Caldron staff work on the yearbook every day of the school year. The Caldron is planned more than a year ahead, picking up where the previous year's book left off in order that there may be a permanent record of Central's activities for all posterity to view. The policy for the staff to follow this year is to make pictures bigger and to cover in the pages of the Caldron, the classwork as well as the extra-curricular activities.

On Distribution Day each member of the staff receives his share of glory. The goal of selling 1,500 Caldrons this year was reached, but not until after the campaign, the total count being 1,511. Besides the 59 agents, both the major and minor staff joined in the selling and editing of our yearbook.

The Caldron is not only a memory book but also a valuable medium of public relations. Hundreds of parents and former students visit Central by leafing through the pages of the Caldron.

Student Council

The voice of Central's student body is the Student Council which, guided by Mr. Willis R. Richardson, is composed of one representative from each home room. Problems concerning students and the management of the school are placed in the Student Council suggestion box by anyone wishing them discussed and acted upon, if deemed advisable by the Council. Committees appointed by the president carry out the decisions reached or investigate the matter further.

Mathematics

Interesting lectures about surveying, the "Movius Curve," and television provide the main events of the monthly meetings of Central's Mathematics Club. The club's aim is to develop an appreciation of mathematics and to provide an outlet for social ideas. Such events as the 33rd Anniversary Celebration, the "Winter Wonderland" dance, and the annual picnic at Foster Park were highlights of the social calendar.

Nature

During the spring and fall it is no uncommon sight to see Nature Club members, carrying binoculars and cameras, head for a city park or suburban area to study nature first hand. During the winter they study nature through the experiences of others, slides, and movies. Central's Nature Club, member of the Indiana Junior Academy of Science, meets every other Thursday and is headed by Miss Iva Spangler.

OFFICERS IN CIRCLE: Mary Keenon, president; Martha Carnahan, secretary-treasurer.

Library Service

"That I may be of service" is the motto of this group, organized in 1936. Bringing the workers into contact with the student body, this service develops personality, dependability, and accuracy. Workers receive certificates or pins as rewards for their individual achievements. Two social meetings are held each semester. Miss Gertrude Beierlein, librarian, advises the club.

This Staff Gives You The Spotlight Every Friday

The Spotlight, Central's weekly paper, published by Centralites for Centralites, boasts of 28 successful years of publications without missing a semester. For several semesters during this time the Spotlight has been awarded the highest award given to high school publications, the All-American rating.

The Spotlight is proud to say that it is a self-supporting enterprise. This is achieved by following a strict budget. The expense of publishing a paper, approximately $100 weekly, is obtained through advertisements, subscriptions, and various events such as the "The Tiger Rag," the annual Spotlight-Caldron dance, and funds received from the school-wide magazine drive.

The paper, organized in 1919, has a staff of about 160 members. Of this total there are 12 major staff members, 85 minor staff members, and 60 home room agents.

Orchestra Concerts Entertain, Educate

Do you play a musical instrument? Why don't you join the Orchestra? These remarks may be heard at the beginning of each new semester to the new 9B's. Thus, many new freshmen are encouraged to get an extra credit by joining the Orchestra. Under the direction of Mr. Gaston Bailhe, the Orchestra plays for concerts. At Christmas time they played a Christmas Cantata in the center hall. For some social life, a Christmas party was held. Students with the highest number of points receive music pins, while the five seniors with the greatest number receive sweaters.

Band Plays for All, Cheers Central

Passing Room 150 the fifth period one can hear the Central High School Band rehearsing daily for football and basketball games, pep sessions, and concerts under the direction of Gaston Bailhe. One of the activities of the year was the annual Band and Orchestra Dance held February 22, which proved enjoyable for everyone. The Music Council is an honorary group of members from the Band and Orchestra chosen by Mr. Bailhe to take care of all problems arising. On Recognition Day awards are given to members of these organizations who have the highest number of points.

Boosters Plan,

The Booster Club this year suddenly decided that it was in need of new ideas—so they went into a huddle and came out with plans for projects. The first was to have a cheering section reserved only for Central rooters, and later it was decided to reserve a section for the Boosters, "to give out with" some new yells. Another was the "wearin' of the Blue and White" in the form of ribbons with the Booster's name written on them. In this way, the Boosters, as is their purpose, built up the morale of the student body and were of definite service to Central High.

The Boosters did their usual selling at games, instituting the sale of programs. They held the annual Tiger Hop, the Booster Banquet, the Valentine Pep Session, the Tiger Mixer, and the annual picnic. Miss Arleth Carvin is the club adviser.

Speakers Broadcast,

National Forensic League is the highest honorary speech organization of the high schools in this country. To become a member a student must meet superior standards in oratory, radio, discussion, declamation, and debate. A pin and degrees of Honor, Excellence, and Distinction are awarded to deserving members. Members of NFL and the speech department participated in Junior Town Meetings, Around the City Desk, "Our Indiana" radio series, radio announcing and script writing, Purdue Assembly, LaPorte Tourney, American Legion con-

In Our Sports, Friendly Rivalry

FRIENDSHIP is only the reflection of a man's worthiness in the eyes of other men. How better to prove an individual's worthiness than in athletics? Athletics have long been a major factor in our educational system, for we recognize that it is through these activities that our boys and girls help to develop their minds and bodies to the greatest extent. It is also through these activities that our youth of today learn one of their most valuable lessons—that of give and take. It is significant that during the past few years our boys far from home met boys from neighboring schools with whom they had competed in a friendly manner on the field of sports. They did not introduce these boys as "a boy I played football against back home," but as "a fellow I used to play ball with." The feeling of friendly rivalry on our sports fields helps to develop friends. We should be and we are very proud of this achievement. For after all, it isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game.

On the fields of friendly strife are sown the seeds that on other days and other fields will bear the fruits of victory. — General Douglas MacArthur

Ups and Downs Mark 1946 Grid Season

CENTRAL'S TIGERS at times during the 1946 season showed flashes of potential offensive and defensive power that brought smiles of satisfaction to their backers. But at other times they dropped into the doldrums of despair and just couldn't shake themselves out of it. They opened their schedule at Goshen and came home on the short end of a 20-6 score. Next, an excellent Muncie team beat them 31 to 6. Then they ran into an undefeated Huntington outfit who was sent home with a 25-13 licking. They really woke up then and blasted North Side 31 to 0. South Side was the next victim and was beaten 25-7 after leading 7-0 at the half. In the Central Catholic game the Tigers were leading 6-0 with two minutes to go; then C. C. pulled the old "sleeper," and won 7-6. North Side was ready for the Tigers next time and beat a disorganized Central team 19-2. In the final game South Side thumped a lackadaisical Blue squad 26-0. Season's resume: Below par—Coach Herb Banet.

Tigers Train Now For Later Victories

Having lost practically all its regulars by graduation, the Central hardwood aggregation met trying opposition in the 1946-47 basketball season. Head Coach Murray Mendenhall resigned and Herb Banet took over the piloting cabin for the Tigers.

With only one senior on the squad, the Blue racked up seven victories to 11 defeats and won one sectional game. Starting out like a house on fire, Central rolled up four fiery victories, dropped one to North Side 47-40, then annexed the Anderson Indians 41-36. Muncie Central set the Blue back 59-46, but Auburn lost 60-52 in the next encounter. The South Side Archers met a stubborn Tiger aggregation in a battle that took an overtime session to decide the Green's supremacy 43-41.

After that, the Blue appeared to have hit a slump and were over-run by such teams as Hammond 72-50, Emerson 56-25, and Concordia 50-43. Central, however, did beat North Side in the second encounter, 52-31. Harlan was eliminated in the sectionals by Central 63-23 and then South Side eliminated the Blue 54-42 to go into the regionals.

Herb Banet, however, has plans for next season, as graduation will only take one of the Banetmen. The up-and-coming reserve team won eight games and lost eight.

Intramural, Spring Track Claim Many Boys

With more than a hundred boys turning out for intramural basketball, it was a hard fought finishing battle to decide the victors, first, of their respective classes, and then for the championship . . . CGAA Girls Win Points by Playing Volleyball.

Since its founding 22 years ago, the Central Girls Athletic Association has played an active part in the improvement of girls sports at Central. Membership in the club is an honor gained through the accumulation of 100 points. Points are earned by participation in any of the sports and other club activities carried on during the year. Included in these are volleyball, speedball, basketball, tumbling, tap, swimming, and softball. Under the point system, numerals, plain C's, special C's, and sweaters are Annually a large gym exhibition is held with all gym classes participating. At the banquet, which is held at the close of the school year, the officers for the following year are announced and trophies awarded, thus providing a fitting close for an eventful season.

All Girls at Central Engage in Sports Activities

Highlighting this year's girls athletic activities were tumbling, dancing, swimming, softball, basketball, and volleyball. The girls' main activity for the year was the mass Exhibition of feminine pulchritude held in the boys gym, April 25, to accommodate the expected crowds. The Girls Athletic Association has developed a full and attractive program to accommodate this popular rising organization and to create and maintain an added interest in girls sports at Central.

A Friendly Faculty, With Helping Hands

THE SAGES SAY that a friend is never known 'til a man has need. In times gone by, when the student had need of assistance for some reason, his instructor in the school was the last one he would have thought of contacting as a friend. The word "teacher" brought on a vision of a stern-faced individual armed with a ruler and a frown. It is interesting to note how this picture has changed through the years. Our teachers of today are frequently mistaken for some of their pupils. They have traded their rule for reason. They are willing to sacrifice their time and talents for our benefit. We don't always approve of their assignments; we consider some of their subjects a little on the boresome side; but we value their help and understanding nonetheless. Teachers often prove their friendship for their pupils by going far beyond the call of duty to offer them aid. We're proud to call our faculty of today our friends.

He is my friend that helps me in the end. — UNKNOWN

Befriends Pupils

Mr. Merle J. Abbett, Fort Wayne's superintendent of schools, balances his time budget so that he may spend some time in personal consultation with the students. Keeping in close contact with young people helps him to understand better the problems of each and to make each one a friend. Three Central seniors, Hal Elzea, Jack Wilson, and Doris Doenges are here with Mr. Abbett discussing plans for attending college. The School Board with which Mr. Abbett is associated is composed of Mr. Willard Shambaugh, president, Mrs. Charles Goeriz, secretary, Mr. August J. Wiegand, treasurer, Mr. Ben F. Geyer, and Mr. W. Page Yarnelle.

Advises Boys

Mr. Ralph O. Virts, our dean of boys, patterns his actions after the quotation, "A friend in need is a friend indeed." Problems are his specialty, whether personal ones which his position as dean brings his way, or geometrical ones, which as teacher he works out. Always an optimist, he looks ahead and can see final solutions. Shown with him are Marion Ayers, seated, and Robert Whitton, standing.

Guides Girls

Miss Anna B. Lewis, Central's dean of girls, has spent many fruitful years here as advisor and friend. Shown here, she is chatting and eating doughnuts with freshmen, Patricia Gulley and Carol Gephart. This year she is leaving us, or, as she puts it, graduating from Central. We sincerely give her a "cum laude" diploma of which she is so deserving.

Keeps in Touch

Principal Fred H. Croninger keeps in close touch with Central alumni. Here he gives best wishes to three alumni, Robert Gillie, Charles Guenther, and Carl Klemme. Gillie is attending Purdue, and Guenther and Klemme are at Yale. Mr. Croninger entertains a real concern in the future of alumni and vicariously shares their sorrows and successes. He is a link of friendship between Central and the students who frequented her halls in past years—one of whom is F. Howard Croninger, his son. Centralites realize the value of Mr. Croninger's friendship both during their high school days and in years after.

Counsels Many, Helps All

Miss Mildred J. Brigham, our guidance director, is one of the busiest persons in Central. She not only teaches French, but also in the guidance office checks credits, makes programs, and helps the students plan their futures. Whenever pupils are involved in difficulties concerning either home or school-life, they know that they have a friend in Miss Brigham. Many times she has gone beyond the call of duty in counseling with pupils and giving helpful information. The Guidance Office, with modern quarters in the new building, is the scene of friendship at work. Assisting her in her clerical work are Lois Heim, Connie Felts, Katie Hinkle, and Jackie Stauffer.

The interpretation and appreciation of the beauty and force of the English language as well as skill and accuracy in its use are the goals. The broad purpose is to provide vicarious experiences which will influence permanently and constructively the set of values of each Central High School citizen.

Worthwhile Friends, Our Classmates

IT HAS BEEN SAID that a real friend is one who knows you but still loves you. One of the immortal examples of friendship is the story of David and Jonathan. Jonathan in his youth acquired an affection for David which was warmly returned and which lasted throughout their lives. Few people recall the actual facts of the story, but it is remembered for the true and lasting friendship it presents. During our school years we make many new acquaintances, but, as time goes on, it is difficult to remember the exact appearance of our high school classmates even though these friendships were real. We remember few of the experiences we shared with them, but the warmth of their friendship still surrounds us, as does the story of David and Jonathan. In days to come, when we leaf through these pages, we hope that these young faces will recall old friendships and bring back memories of classmates true.

He who has a thousand friends has not a friend to spare. — EMERSON

National Honor Society Names 45 This Year

January 14 and April 23 are days to remember in the history of the 1947 senior class. On these days 39 Central seniors and six Central juniors were announced as members of the National Honor Society and received their NHS pins from Principal Croninger. These pins symbolize high school careers of outstanding scholarship, service to the School, ethical character, and leadership. Only 15 per cent of the class are eligible for admission, and only those in the upper third of the class scholastically are considered.

Old Friendships Renew Memories

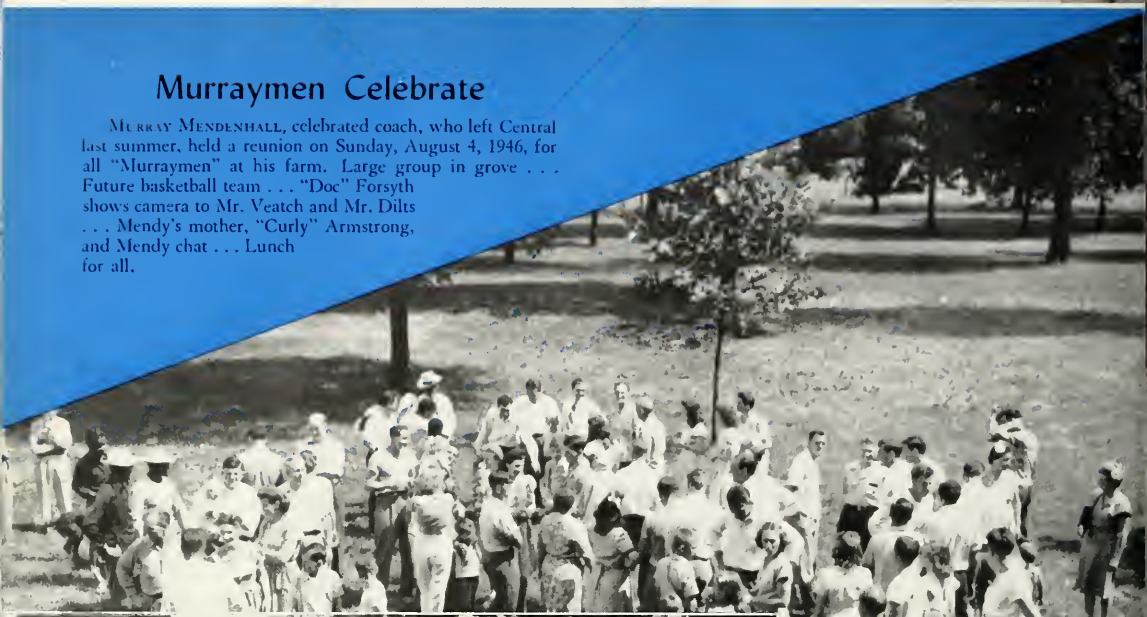
"LET ME LIVE in a house by the side of the road . . ." School years soon pass and we grow into maturity. New trails are blazed through the years and we scatter to all ends of the earth. We often forget the training and education we received in our early life, but somehow through the years the names and memories of old friends and old friendships linger on. We meet an old classmate on a busy lonely street in a new town, and suddenly it's a friendly city and an old familiar place. As time goes by we realize that it's not so much the successful heights we scale or the money we acquire that makes our life useful, but the good we can do and the ones we can call our friends who make life truly worth living. It is then that we realize that there is no greater praise than to be called ". . . a friend to man."

Ah, how good it feels! The hand of an old friend. — LONGFELLOW

Miss Vera E. Pence here speaks to the guests and initiates at the National Honor Society banquet in the YWCA dining hall, May 17 of last year. Seated are Principal Fred H. Croninger, Mary Lou Ehrman, Barbara Harris, Miss Rosza Tonkel, Miss Mary Harrah, Eileen Murphy and Miss Mildred Brigham.

Murraymen Celebrate

MURRAY MENDENHALL, celebrated coach, who left Central last summer, held a reunion on Sunday, August 4, 1946, for all "Murraymen" at his farm. Large group in grove . . . Future basketball team . . . "Doc" Forsyth shows camera to Mr. Veatch and Mr. Dilts . . . Mendy's mother, "Curly" Armstrong, and Mendy chat . . . Lunch for all.



Our Dean, Ever Busy

Versatile, energetic, Dean Anna B. Lewis enters all phases of Central life, at all hours, for 23 years.

Miss Lewis serves at P-TA tea . . . She drives horses at the Mendenhall farm . . . She cooks her own supper . . . beats rhythm at a dance . . . and pilots her "lame duck" . . . Now she "graduates" from Central, Caldron in hand.

Teachers Relax, Too!

Upper Left: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin M. Todd and their daughter, Sharon, relax in their pleasant home, 2209 Kenwood. Upper Right: Mr. Butler, Mr. Richards, and Mr. Tonkel pause at the door for refreshments after the Senior Round-up is well on its way for an evening of fun. Left: Mr. Richardson is ready to start on the homeward trail at the end of a busy school day. Right: Miss Mary Harrah, former faculty member of Central, chats with Miss Helen Burr, general chairman at the Teacher Association Tea in the Central Cafeteria November 4. Below: Faculty members and their families relax and enjoy themselves at an all-faculty banquet held at the Sears-Roebuck pavilion in September.

United Efforts of Many are Necessary

Central, so big, so complex, requires many hands to meet the needs of her student body. Here are some who daily demonstrate, through service, their loyalty—and friendship for Central.

The cafeteria help assist Miss Gertrude Keep, dietician. They prepare and serve all meals in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Wheeler is chief cook and her assistant is Mrs. Wagner. Mrs. Dalzell, who specializes in salads, is helped by Mrs. Hall who is also in charge of the sandwiches and dishwashing. Mrs. Moreland acts as cashier, while Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Meshberger and Mrs. Monroe act as general helpers.

The office girls, Miss Uhlig, clerk, and Mrs. Kughler, secretary, are both Central graduates. They do general office work and special work for teachers.

for Efficient Management of Our School

Headed by Mr. Rondot, the custodial staff keeps the school clean, safe, and healthful by sweeping the halls, making minor repairs, washing windows, and cleaning blackboards.

The attendance takers assist Mrs. Celia Winters, attendance teacher, by collecting all absence slips and compiling them every day.

Mrs. Grisell's work is to discover any situation that hinders the progress of any pupil. She interprets school programs and regulations to parents in order that they can take a more intelligent interest in their children's school life. Mrs. Grisell, also reports home situations, health problems, and social conditions to the school authorities so that the school facilities may be used to best meet the needs of each child.
